The authors use the concept of a business novel to narrate an interesting story illustrating theories of organisational strategy, performance alignment and people management. As engineers and management postgraduates from IIT and IIM, the authors use their rich experience as consultants, trainers and authors of software to create an engrossing storyline set in a business environment. The ideas flow smoothly from chapters on getting down to specifics, making appraisals, nailing down performance objectives and more. Each chapter has detailed and lucid consolidation exercises. An engaging work detailing the varied dynamics of challenges faced by a business, this book will help enrich the capabilities of senior managers and everyone aiming to get ahead.
